Away down in the lower corner where the great southeast begins, a big glorious carnival was going on. Among the amusements, were dancing wooden soldiers, a rope act by a cat that had recently seen the follies, and decides to steal Will Rogers stuff. Then came the great high diving act by Flossie Pig. Of course you know Flossie's been trying to reduce for ever so long, but can't get any results. Well anyway she won't do high diving anymore for she didn't pick a solid spot for her diving tub and her extreme weight drove the tub into the ground.

Proffessor Limberger was giving a demonstration of his power of concentration and will power and selling his remarkable book on how it was done. They seemed to sell like cross word puzzles and some purchasers were able to get results immediately. Spinard Cat read only a few pages and was able to walk in the air and all that sort of thing. Old farmer Al saw Spinard doing this and stole his book. Al starts out to get results and right good they are too. Then he decides to walk off of a cliff, and sure enough he succeeds. Then shortly he bumps into Conway Lion also a sky walker. They both become confused, their thoughts run amiss. Concentration is all wet, and what do you think---sure enough they flop downward to the great depths of the chasm below, fortunately there was a great mass of soft mud to light in-- anyway the incident makes Conway Lion sore and he chases Farmer Al away. ALBOP's advice is:--"Be Yourself".
